

Architecture has always interested me, even though I chose teaching as my first career. As I have traveled around the world, I have tried to capture bits and pieces of architecture through photographs. With them, I can remember experiences such as my love for the city on water, Venice, Italy.

I can remember how wonderful it was to walk the town halls and squares

of Holland, Italy, Germany, and Russia

...

I can remember how it felt to experience the castles and cathedrals of England, Italy, and France...

And, lastly, I can remember a glimpse of how life would be like in the Caribbean homes of the Bahamas and Puerto Rico.
